Historically, it was used for documentation in plain-text format, particularly of programs or computer hardware, on a wide range of operating systems.
```

Almost everyone would have used the doc file format, whenever you write a letter, do some work or generally write on your PC you will use the doc file format. As PC technology has grown the original uses for the extension have become less important and have largely disappeared from the PC world. Early versions of the doc file format contained mostly formatted text, however development of the format has allowed doc files to contain a wide variety of embedded objects such as charts and tables from other applications as well as media such as videos, images, sounds and diagrams.
